

Call For Papers: Quantitative Easing & Quantitative Tightening

The National Institute of Economic and Social Research (NIESR) is hosting a one-day conference on “Lessons from QE and QT” on Friday 14 June 2024, at NIESR’s office, 2 Dean Trench Street, SW1P 3HE. The event will be in-person only.

Accepted papers will feature in a book, which will be the eighth in the Macroeconomic Policy Making series (Cambridge University Press). The conference and book will aim to provide researchers and policymakers with an opportunity to share their insights and perspectives on what we have learned so far about quantitative easing and quantitative tightening.

Submission Instructions

We welcome submissions of extended abstracts or full papers related, but not necessarily restricted to, the following broad issues:

- Unconventional monetary policy in theory and practice
- Fiscal and monetary policy interactions when conducting QE/QT
- QE and reserves
- The future of QE/QT

Papers should be accessible to non-technical audience and no longer than 6,000 words. Please send submissions (either extended abstract or full paper, including JEL code and keywords) to callpapers@niesr.ac.uk

Key Dates

Submission due: Friday 22 March 2024

Final conference paper due: Friday 31 May 2024

Conference: Friday 14 June 2024

Final book chapter due: Friday 26 July 2024

Book publication expected for early 2025.