5. Nothing in these terms is intended to affect ownership or rights to use the pre-existing intellectual property of either party.

6. Where NIESR provides access to its subscription publications, including but not limited to the National Institute Economic Review, these will be for the use of the Licensee staff only, and access will not be provided to other parties without prior agreement of NIESR.

7. Unless notified otherwise, the Licensee may cite NIESR work provided as part of this Agreement in its publications and other materials, provided that appropriate credit and citation is given. Whilst NIESR will use best endeavours to ensure the quality and appropriateness of the opinions and information provided, it shall have no liability for the accuracy or otherwise of such information, or its appropriateness to any specific context.

8. NIESR will at all times seek to ensure that staff engaged with the Licensee under these terms have appropriate standing and expertise but cannot guarantee the availability of any specific staff member for any specific event.

9. In the event that NIESR is unable to provide the service above to any material extent, or the needs of the Licensee should increase materially, the parties will meet to review the Membership, with a view to changing the level of service or cost involved for the remainder of the period.

10. Subject to the clauses above, all exchanges between the Licensee and NIESR under this agreement shall remain private and confidential to the parties concerned.
